FRENCH ABANDON TRENCHES.
PARIS, May 31.—In the course of a violent struggle last night on the Verdun front, the Germans compelled the French to evacuate a first line trench near the Carcettes wood south of Cumieres, the war office announced today.

The French retreated stubbornly and the official statement says repulsed the Germans everywhere except near Carcettes wood. The trench which was evacuated had been leveled by the German shell fire.

By Associated Press.
CHICAGO, May 31.—Frank H. Hitchcock, former postmaster general, who has been in Chicago several days working in behalf of Justice Charles E. Hughes, whose friends desire him nominated by the Republican national convention for President in 1920, issued a statement denying that he ever said Mr. Hughes would accept the honor if tendered him.

George W. L. Meyer of Massachusetts arrived today and assumed charge of the Roosevelt campaign. "Until we hear from Mr. Hughes himself or a statement in made from an authentic source we will continue to believe that Frank H. Hitchcock is political campaign manager for Mr. Hughes," Mr. Meyer said. "We find that Roosevelt sentiment among business men is every state is growing daily. The great preparedness parade shows that the masses are in favor of preparedness and true Americanism as expounded by Mr. Roosevelt in his speeches."

The hotels are beginning to fill with delegates and visitors to the convention although a majority of the delegates are not expected before Sunday or Monday. The last of the 53 members of the Republican national committee arrived today.

WASHINGTON, May 31.—Plans for the Democratic convention at St. Louis were discussed today by President Wilson with Representative Doremus of Michigan chairman of the Democratic congressional committee Norman Hapgood, an organizer of the Wilson Non-Partisan League and Senator Taggart of Indiana.

Between now and convention time the President is expected to devote much attention to politics. He is holding daily conferences with leaders who are interested in his campaign.

Uncle Sam Has Just One Friend—Uncle

Service" Urged by Wilson, Replied.

By Associated Press.

ST. LOUIS, May 31.—Colonel Roosevelt who arrived here today from Kansas City, faced a busy day. He was scheduled to make three addresses and hold a public reception. His principal speech is to be made before the Civic Club.

After a brief address to several hundred persons who benefited with him, his plan called for a reception at his hotel and an address to the Business Men's League at the Mercantile Club. He expected to leave for New York at 6 o'clock.

Speaking before a crowd of 100 at the breakfast, Colonel Roosevelt took issue with President Wilson's views on preparedness.

"The trouble with us in America," Mr. Roosevelt said, "is our tendency to use lofty words to veil our meaning. I wish to take issue with Mr. Wilson's expression in his Memorial Day address. The President says he is for 'universal voluntary service.' That is equivalent to a treaty law that would make every boy and girl attend school provided they didn't wish to stay away."

"I like the word 'universal' but 'voluntary' is a weak word. It sucks out the life of the other."

Mr. Wilson said the acid test was about to be applied to the business men to the nation to see if they will allow their employees to volunteer for training. I am against that. It cannot be patriotism that asks one man to have others prepared to do his fighting."

"Divided patriotism is as impossible as hyphenated citizenship. I appeal for you to prepare yourselves. Get out of the rut of the copperhead pacifist."

"I should be just as unalterably opposed to an English-American alliance as I am against the German-American alliance. Whatever defense I may have for my attitude you can accuse me of pussy-footing. When I was President I was a friend to every foreign nation."

Uncle Sam has just one friend—Uncle Sam.

VILLA LEADER IS DOGGING

Showed Mexican Deeds to Create Impression He is Driving Yankees Out; New Carranza Note.

By Associated Press.
COLUMBUS, N. M., May 31.—Julio Acosta a Villa leader, formerly commander at Querétaro Chihuahua with 300 followers, last reported near Batopilas, Chihuahua, is said today to be following in the wake of General Pershing's rear outpost south of Nampulipa.

From all accounts Acosta is trying to make it appear in the Nampulipa country that he is driving the Americans before him and that before long they will either have to fight him or leave the country peacefully.

NEW CARRANZA NOTE.

WASHINGTON, May 31.—The American government has received a note from General Carranza regarding the situation growing out of the pursuit of Villa.

While the note had not been fully translated this morning officials said that it was not an ultimatum but a continuance of the correspondence on the question of American troops remaining in Mexico.

The note asked for a definite explanation of the presence of American troops in Mexico and renewed Carranza's previous request for their withdrawal.

General Carranza's new note refers to the repeated declaration that the United States wants no war with Mexico and argues that the withdrawal of the troops would be the best proof of that attitude on the part of the United States. The continued presence of the troops, he said, is having a demoralizing effect. It goes on to say that Carranza's troops are now able both in numbers and position to control the outlying in Northern Mexico and that the co-operation of the American troops to prevent incursions into the United States can best be carried on by having the forces on the American side of the border.

It declares that had the American troops now in Mexico been engaged in patrol on the American side the raids on Glen Springs and Boquilla could have been avoided.

Agreed On at New York.

By Associated Press.
PITTSBURGH, May 31.—Two hundred delegates representing 50,000 striking miners in District No. 5 (United Mine Workers) convened in conference here today to plan the formation of the new scale in the hands of a committee of eight. This committee will be chosen during the afternoon by ballot. It was stated by leaders that, as every man knew the convention was called to overthrow the New York scale recently signed with the Pittsburgh Coal Operators Association the committee should be ready to report the new scale tomorrow.

F. J. Hay, international vice president presided because the miners would not follow their district officials. Steel mills in the district supplied with coal from the mines affected by the strike have only two weeks supply on hand and if the miners are not operating by that time will be compelled to suspend operations.

GRADUATES GUESTS OF SOPHOMORES AT THE ANNUAL SUPPER

Delightful Affair Participated in by All High School Students.

CLASS DAY EXERCISES TONIGHT

Commencement Week Festivities are Under Way in Full Swing; Class Play Tomorrow Night, While the Diplomats are Awarded on Friday.

The annual supper given by the sophomore class of the high school to the members of the graduating class last night was probably the most successful of all suppers that have been given since this delightful feature of commencement week was inaugurated. One thing which greatly aided the success of the affair was the fact that it was held in the social room of Trinity Lutheran Church. For once there was ample room for the diners, and those who seemed had space to move without serious crowding. Heretofore space has been at a premium and enjoyment of the feast marred to a certain degree.

All four classes of the high school took a part. The seniors were the guests of the sophomores, while the juniors served. The freshmen served their apprenticeship in the kitchen. The affair was under the general supervision of Misses Kenney, Hensch and Welch of the high school faculty.

Superintendent of Schools Stanley P. Ashe related as the toastmaster. Robert Adams spoke for the sophomores. Ripley Laubach for the seniors. Dewey Miller for the juniors and Rosalie Port for the freshmen. Solon J. Pegeri gave the address on behalf of the faculty and Principal D. B. Smith responded to the toast. Our School. Two guests of the school, Rev. D. B. Burgess and George S. Connell were permitted to express their appreciation of having an opportunity to participate in the affair. After singing "The Orange and the Black" the students adjourned.

Other events of commencement week, as scheduled for tonight to tomorrow night and Friday night. To night comes the Class Day exercises at the Colonial Theatre. The record attendance of the week always meets its climax at this performance in which all of the graduates participate. The program this year is said to embrace some especially novel and interesting features. The class song written by Howard Taylor to the melody of "Dvorak's Humoresque," will be sung for the first time in public.

Admission to Class Day is by ticket, but reserved seats will not be honored after 8 P. M. At that time the doors will be thrown open to the general public and all vacant seats may be occupied.

In order to avoid confusion in the presentation of tickets it is announced that checks numbered 43 are for Class Day No. 44 for the Class Play and No. 45 for Commencement.

DEAL IS CLOSED

Western Maryland Property Taken Over Herd Property.

A deal between the Herd heirs and the Western Maryland railroad for the purchase by the latter of 32 acres of land at Fayette on what is known as Herd Bottom, was closed about noon today. H. R. Pratt, chief engineer for the railroad, tendered a check for $5,000 to Washington Herd representing the Herd heirs, as part payment.

The purchase price was at $500 an acre and 32 acres were taken over by the railroad making the consideration $16,000.

The railroad has also purchased land belonging to Dr. Mullen and the land estate at Dunbar and nothing remains of the construction of yards to accommodate 500 cars on the land acquired by the road. Coal brought down from newly tapped fields in West Virginia is to be shipped here and crews will make this their stop over place. A round house is to be erected near Dunbar. An account of what improvement the Western Maryland will make was published exclusively in The Courier some time ago.

MEMORIAL DAY QUIETLY OBSERVED IN THIS CITY

Showers Spoil Many Plans of the Pleasure Seekers; Amusements Are Mild.

Memorial Day was quietly observed in Connellsville. Showers and overcast skies made the day extremely disagreeable as far as the weather was concerned but toward evening the skies cleared and the sun came out for a while.

The various memorial exercises were fraught with real significance and more graves were decorated and more loaves of bread were distributed before the day was over.

Practically all races and colors represented in the population of Connellsville participated in the observance of the day and there were three separate parades at different periods of the day. Those who waited until afternoon had the best weather.

In the amusement line there was little going on. The bad weather spoiling what chances there were for a big day. The moving picture houses were well patronized the excursions to the mountains took others away from home a small number went to Pittsburg to see the ball game and Shady Grove's opening attracted still others.

So far as was reported there were no accidents to mar the day. The rainy weather reduced the number of automobilists and the possibility of accidents was thus reduced.

W. P. Clark commander of William P. Knitz Post asks The Courier to thank all those who assisted in making Memorial Day a success. The Post he says is very grateful to all the organizations who participated in the parade those who sent flowers and cakes in fact everyone.

Despite the inclement weather the veterans feel that the day was properly celebrated that the memory of the dead heroes has been fittingly honored.

SUES A PRIEST

Barkeeper Alleges Father Ulrich Had Him Discharged.

Special to The Courier.
UNIONTOWN, May 31.—John Hanke of Connellsville formerly a bartender at the Trans-Allegheny Hotel through his attorneys L. B. Brownfield and Elyas Goodstein brought an action today against Rev. Stephen Ulrich pastor of St. John the Evangelist Slavish Roman Catholic Church, of Connellsville to recover $5,000 damages.

The affidavit was presented to Judge J. Q. Van Swearingen and bail for the priest fixed at $500. It is likely that Father Ulrich will be arrested by a deputy from the sheriff's office today.

Hansek charges that Father Ulrich secured his discharge as a bartender at the Trans-Allegheny Hotel Connellsville following trouble which recently occurred in the St. John church. It is set forth by Hansek in his affidavit that James O'Hara the proprietor of the hotel is of the same religious belief as Father Ulrich and it is charged that Father Ulrich used his influence over O'Hara to secure Hansek's discharge.

There is now pending in common pleas court an injunction action brought by Father Ulrich against Hansek and other members of his congregation to restrain them from interfering with the services of the church and the lifting of the collection.

L. E. Parkhill of Dawson, a brakeman on the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad has secured a patent in the United States and Canada for a system of signaling by means of which any part of the longest freight train is in instant communication with the engineer.

Frankman Parkhill was at work on a train that backed into the coal tipples at the Day mine and put it out of commission for two weeks. Had he been able to signal the engineer the accident could have been avoided. The mishap set him to thinking and he worked and experimented with his patent for about two years.

IDENTIFIES NEGRO

Mrs. Rosenblum Declares Torrance is the One Who Attacked Her.

MAN IS NABBED AT YOUNGSTOWN

Brought Back by City Detective J. W. Mitchell; Accused Negro Declares He Was Never Before in the Town, But Police Officers Identify Him.

That the negro arrested in Youngstown and brought back yesterday by City Detective J. W. Mitchell is the man who attacked Mrs. J. M. Rosenblum of Snyder street when she saw him at the police station last night. Mrs. Rosenblum is positive she says, that John Torrance negro suspect, struck her in her home some three weeks ago and then disappeared, after taking a purse.

Detective Mitchell said that it was through a man he had sent to Youngstown that Torrance was arrested. He has been working on the case since the attack on Mrs. Rosenblum occurred. He told a reporter that he sent a man to that city. When Torrance was seen in Youngstown by Mitchell's man he notified Detective John McDonough and Harry Beardman of the Youngstown police force, who made the arrest.

Detective Mitchell returned from Youngstown yesterday with the prisoner. When Mrs. Rosenblum was taken to the police station last evening to identify him, she evidenced fear of the man.

Yes that is the man, she told the police only his voice is changed a little.

Torrance denied to the police that he was ever in this city before, but both Chief Rottler and Detective Mitchell say they know the man, having arrested him here before. On the morning he attacked Mrs. Rosenblum, Chief Rottler says he saw him coming down Main street but he was not arrested. The police not being notified of the attack until later.

Torrance has not yet recovered from the scratches inflicted by Mrs. Rosenblum's finger nails when she resisted him. Marks stood out on both his face and hands. Mrs. Rosenblum has not yet completely recovered from the shock of his brutal attack.

No time for the hearing has yet been set. Information will be made before an alderman.

The $200 reward will be split between the Youngstown police and the man Mitchell put on the case. Mitchell says he does not expect to receive any part of the reward.

MANY METHODIST MAIDENS
WILLING TO WED LONESOME
MISSIONARY FROM FAR WEST

A preacher farmer missionary in the Far West where girls are scarce is fast of single blessedness—not because as the case may be coming last to attend the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church at Saratoga Springs he met Rev. G. L. Richardson, pastor of the local Methodist Episcopal Church and Rev. H. A. Baum pastor of the Cochran Memorial Church at Dawson. To them he told his troubles and they in their kindness of heart promised to aid him.

Rev. Richardson created quite a furore at the meeting of the Epworth League at his home last night by announcing that he had the name and address of a highly recommended husband for one of his husbandless flock. Asking how many would be willing to consider an offer of matrimony he was answered by the large number of hands that went into the air. The pastor then outlined the proposition and gave the Westerner's name and address. These ladies were quick to take down in writing and there was a noticeable hurry on their part to get home after the meeting was over—presumably to write at once to the wife seeker.

Women are scarce, very scarce, in the section of California in which Rev. Richardson preaches, and the men are lonely. Here in the East there are more than enough women to go around. The man who appeared to the Eastern pastor for a wife and in securing a wife is a farmer who also does mission preaching. He asks that all candidates for the well known position of wife send a photograph so that he can get an idea of what he would get, the other arrangements are satisfactory.

HOPWOOD SPEAKS STRONGLY AGAINST ARMOR PLANT BILL

Says Measure is Caused by Democrats' Grouch Against Trusts.

DENOUNCE THE EXTRAVAGANCES

Congressman Asserts That Not a Democrat Would Invest His Own Money in Such a Proposition; William to Squander Public's $11,000,000.

Special to The Courier.
WASHINGTON May 30.—Attack of the present administration's extravagance and useless expenditure of public funds and the declaration that the Democratic party's purpose to build a government armor plate plant apparently was inspired in part at least, by nothing better than "an increasing grouch against what the Democrats call the Trusts," was contained in a speech which Representative Hopwood of Pennsylvania made yesterday from the floor of the House during the discussion on the navy bill and the attached bill calling for an appropriation of $11,000,000 with which to construct a government armor making plant.

After speaking of the need for preparedness and expressing the opinion that the United States should have a much stronger navy than at present and powerful coast defenses, Mr.
Hopwood said:

"I wish more particularly to talk about the building of an armor plate plant. Any enterprise over its success or failure to the men who are directing it I have known in my district of many enterprises started with ample capital, by men of good business capacity, but lacking expert knowledge of the particular industry in which they were engaged, and these enterprises failed; they included steel mills, glass factories, brick works, coke works and so on.

"Nearby these mills and factories that failed were others started by men expert in that particular branch of industry, and they have been wonderfully successful. Just as an illustration let me mention some glass factories. Two that had large capital to start with in my town are abandoned and in ruins; two others one in my town and one in Point Marion, a few miles away, were started with very limited capital but by men who knew the glass business from childhood, some of them coming from Belgium to this country. These two have paid large dividends annually, as much as 50 per cent per annum some years.

"The government can furnish the capital to build an armor plate plant but where is it going to get its Andrew Carnegie its Charles A. Schwab or its Thomas A. Edison? Such men have never been for hire at any salary that the government would dare to pay. They are captains of industry, so-called in derision at times. You can call them what you please in your pet jealousy of their achievements, but in a land of the free they have to be reckoned with.
Such men can demand what they are worth, and they will always be able to collect the price, for the very simple reason that you cannot get the thing you want unless they give it to you.

"This administration promised in its platform to conduct the government's business, changing the government's policy in such a plant.
I venture to say that there is not a man on the Democratic side of this House who would after careful consideration put one dollar in such a plant.

"The only people that make armor plate are the very large steel corporations that make it as a side line, and a very small one at that to their whole business. No part of the steel business is so uncertain, take it through a term of years. No part is so exacting in its requirements. No part is so sure to meet with losses by reason of failure to meet right tests, and by the further reason of equipment becoming antiquated and having to be relegated to the scrap heap.

"An armor plant as a separate thing apart from other lines of steel manufacture is an unproved thing, and I say would not be considered as a safe investment for private capital. I say you have no right to invest public funds in a venture into which you would not put your own funds. This could only be defended on the grounds that the public had to supply its needs and there was no other way to do it. This is not the case here. The necessity for armor plate has been supplied and can be by plants now in existence. The material so furnished has been of the best, better I feel safe in asserting than the government will ever be able to make it has been furnished at reasonable prices, cheaper than the government will be able to make it."

Mr. Hopwood declared that the only reason apparent to him for Democratic insistence on building a government plant was that the Democrats had made up their minds to build it and closed their minds to any reasons or reasons why they should not do so.

"I think sometimes I scent another reason," he added, "and that is their hatred of big business. They have an ingrowing grouch against what they call the 'Trusts.' There was a time when 'Big Business' was arrogant,

B & B 47th anniversary

june 5th to june 10th inclusive

This is the 47th—from an age standpoint—as this store was founded in June, 1869.

However, this is the First Anniversary of this store under the present ownership.

In 1912 we sold this business—and the other people had an Anniversary Sale each year for three years while they were operating the business. Last November (1915)—we (R. H. Boggs and Henry Buhl, Jr.) repurchased this entire business—and hence this is the first Anniversary Sale—by the present ownership.

This is to be a real Sale—the "old time" genuine kind—going to surpass all previous selling records—with goods and prices.
Sale is to last a week—commencing Monday, June 5th—ending on Saturday, the 10th.

Over two million dollars' worth of medium to finest merchandise here to choose from.

Several hundred thousand dollars of this stock was looked after and bought during the past two months for this Sale—the markets were thoroughly searched—for the right kind of goods—that importers and manufacturers wanted to sell—and all bought for cash, when a price was made that was sufficient inducement.

Therefore, there are inducements in styles, quality and prices in every department that will make this a profitable Sale for everybody who reads this—whether they live in or out of town —or, even if you have to come a long way and stay over night, it will pay you to come.

The Opening Day—Monday—will be great—but there is such a stock of goods here, and prices—that EVERY day of this 1916 Anniversary Week will be all great Sales days—in every department—from the top floor to the basement—read the advertisements each day in the Pittsburgh papers—extraordinary news—have been eliminated from the business world. 'Big Business' is not necessarily bad; ninety-five per cent of it is good, to my mind, and should receive encouragement from the government rather than sneers and kicks."

In conclusion Mr. Hopwood showed some of the ways, as an illustration, in which the United States Steel Corporation has helped its employees, through pension funds, accident relief, sanitary equipment, better homes, playgrounds and so on.

After delivering his speech, Mr.
Hopwood in discussing the matter with The Courier's correspondent said that the only hope to save the country the $11,000,000 which the Democrats plan to squander on the armor plant, was the Republican administration which on coming into power next year could stop the actual construction of the plant, as the Democrats would not have time to do much more than get the plans ready.

BRUSH TEETH CORRECTLY

The right way to brush the teeth is to hold the bristles upright.
In this way the crevices, as well as the surfaces are thoroughly cleaned, provided a few drops of hycolite in a glass of water are used.

Particles of food which invite germs and microbes get into the tiny crevices. Hycolite reaches every crevice, kills the germs and takes the mouth and breath sweet and clean.

You surely must use hycolite and avoid decay of teeth. Rinse and gargle with this very satisfying and effective mouth wash and you will escape throat troubles and other germ diseases.

Dentists are urging the use of hycolite because it is such a pure, safe and remarkably effective antiseptic. It cools and soothes, cleanses and heals and is very economical. Hycolite can be obtained from any drugist,

Marimba Records A Musical Novelty

THE instant, widespread success of the first Columbia marimba records proved the popularity of this novel form of musical expression.
The ringing clearness of the higher notes, the deep, booming bass of the lower, the tremendous resonance of this instrument give a new and interesting quality to even familiar music. These records are splendid reproductions of the power of marimba tone:

- A1986, 10 in.; 75c—"The Modest Susanna,"
"The Flag of Guatemala"—Royal Marimba Band
- A1982, 10 in.; 65c—Poet and Peasant Overture; Pique Dame Overture.—Royal Marimba Band
- A1906, 10 in.; 75c—Native of Vienna Waltz;
Herrera Two-Step.—Royal Marimba
Band

Columbia Records are consistently first with the musical novelties and hits of the day.
You could hear the music of the marimba shortly after Hurtado Brothers introduced it at the Prisco Fair. And you can hear today at Columbia dealers the hits that are sung everywhere today. "All the hits while they are hits" is the Columbia policy.

A MANIFEST FAILURE

The people are becoming heartily tired of the state-wide direct primary election law with its Presidential preferences and its non-partisan judicial ballots. They object to the time it takes to vote the ticket and the time it takes to count it out, and to the involved character of the ballot, and the difficulty of voting it without making a mistake.

This feeling was intensified by the recent Republican primary contest. Governor Dumbaugh has shown the folly of the Presidential preference clause, and the judicial vote indicates that a more intelligent choice of judges was made under the old system. It is possible that there will be a plank in the Republican state platform demanding the repeal of this legislation. Former Lieutenant Governor Walter Lyon of Pittsburgh, who was chairman of the platform committee two years ago and will likely be a member of the new committee, counsels action along this line. He believes the direct primary election law is unconstitutional and on this point says:

"The state has no more right to take the selection of party officers and candidates out of the hands of the political parties or organizations than it has to tell the church organizations how they shall elect delegates to their presbyteries, synods and general assemblies, or than it has to prescribe the manner for the election of officers in the fraternal or other organizations. I am strongly of the belief that the selection of party candidates and officers should go back into the parties themselves through their state, county and city conventions. The result of the judicial election certainly shows the necessity for at once excepting the judiciary from the provisions of the non-partisan ballot law. It is a rich man's law. Unless a judicial candidate has a huge campaign fund his qualifications for the place he seeks are completely lost sight of. And certainly a candidate should not be obliged to go through two campaigns, one at the primary and one at the election."

The Courier objected to the state regulation of party primaries on the same ground, but at that particular time the Progressive politics were reforming the country and the Constitution was considered an ancient document that had outgrown its usefulness. The reform movement was led by men like Hon. Bill Flinn of the Milledale and like him they had a notion that their reform was political and that it was the duty of the political system. They wanted to put everything back to the people. They fondly imagined the people would always be for them and against the other crowd. One or two demonstrations of the law have convinced most people, including the Progressive element, that it's all a horrible mistake.

Finally, judging from the lack of interest manifested in the state-wide direct primary elections there is no popular demand for them, and the sooner we return to the older and simpler methods the better everybody will be pleased.

SOME NINE BUREAU REFORMS.
 The Bureau of Mines of Pennsylvania announces that it will have ready for distribution, about July 1, maps of the state showing the inspection districts. The Courier urged this publication upon the department several years ago, it being almost impossible to comprehend the boundaries of many of the districts owing to their involved and rather arbitrary location.

The bureau should now go one step further and redistrict the bituminous regions with sole regard to the districts instead of the convenience of the inspectors. The statistics of the inspectors which are carefully gathered year by year and published by the bureau are of little real value because of the fact that they report the statistics of groups of mines arbitrarily and with no regard to the mining region in which they are located.

One district, for example, contains mines in the Connelville region and in the Somerset region. Each region should be carved into inspection districts of its own, so that the statistics therefrom when gathered may be amalgamated into a regional report for comparison with the reports of the United States Geological Survey. This reorganization of the mining districts of Pennsylvania would not necessarily add materially if at all to the number of inspectors, while it would be the means of reducing the inspection reports to order and regulating the statistics to value.

THE RECALL

Steel men have every confidence in another year of prosperity principally because they have the orders on their books, but much depends upon the European war. If it should soon end happily without being drawn into it price-pyramiding will necessarily cease, but manufacturers generally believe there is enough foreign business left, not to mention our domestic demands, to keep the furnaces and the mills well employed and the tide of prosperity if not at flood at least on the high.

Notwithstanding this the Democratic party will be defeated. Its pretensions are vain and its performances have been failures. Its policies have been futile defiance. The people are tired of its unpreparedness and general impotence. They want new blood, new policies, in short a new deal.

They have sounded the Recall of the Republican party.

The Connelville volunteer firemen have been issued under the Workmen's Compensation Act. Some doubts have been expressed as to the right of the city to pay the cost of this insurance from the Volunteer Firemen's Relief Fund, so the firemen took the bull by the horns and appropriated the money from the fund on their own motion. There may be some question about the dedication of this fund, but the fire men control it if anybody does.

The prices of meat have been marked up again. This is one of the penalties we are paying for our war prosperity.

Sidewalk reform is always welcome to Connelville. This particular reform is an intermittent caller but a rather brief sojourner. Progress should give him the glad hand and try to detain him long enough to accomplish something worth while.

Put away the flags, but remember to keep them clean and bright for Flag Day, June 14.

City Solicitor Higbee was a long time getting his street nicely paved with brick and he must be excused for objecting to its being converted into a public highway. Motor cars run fast enough under the ordinance for the ordinary citizen to dodge without having to elude his life trying to cross streets infected with speed kings.

The chain gang observed Memorial Day.

McAdoo has been dropped from the ship Purchase bill, but the administration remains. Mac won't be on the board but he will have a mighty pull.

The banks were closed yesterday, but everybody had a rain check.

Colonel John S. Mosby, the famous Confederate guerrilla chieftain, died on Memorial Day. He had been reconstructed since the days of his friend President Grant.

Shaves come high in Mount Pleasant, but the barbers are artists.

Greece is getting into the war game again. The Trojans haven't been heard from yet, but probably they emigrated. There's a Troy in France and one in New York. The New York Trojans, however, are all Republican this year.

McConaha made Wilson but McAdoo married him.

It is evident that if we would make Memorial Day a more potent factor for patriotism the program will have to be lengthened and made more attractive.

A shoring wife and a nagging husband just naturally head for the divorce court.

The Democratic administration might give us a 2-cent piece along with the coinage of silver. The new copper coin would be useful in buying 2-cent newspapers, 2-cent stamps and many other 2-cent purchases.

Everything is going up but interest on deposits and it is coming down from the 1% peak.

The Wheeling railroad builders are being welcomed by Greene county people with the glad hand and the free right of way.

Secretary Lansing may quit his job. He probably objects to counterbalancing the President Wilson's state correspondence.

The Democratic administration has gone dippy on Government Ownership. In view of the fact that it is contrary to Democratic principles, we must assume that the administration needs some more fat officers for hungry Democrats.

Democracy spells depression at home and derision abroad.

West Penn improvement watchfully waits but frequently pauses at West Penn waiting rooms.

The European war has undoubtedly diminished the labor supply of this country and been a factor in creating wage advances, and the situation will be mended much when the war is over.

The Refort Courteous

The Canonsburg Notes is moved to exclaim, Think of the tons of advice unheeded on the poor graduates!

Consider, also, the quality of some of the advice.

The Meyersdale Commercial declares its belief that each human being knows pretty nearly what is in the content of his own mind.

Now it is plain why some people know so little.

The Philadelphia Ledger thinks that for a man who made the President possible, the Colonel is not exactly pioneering the way to make him impossible.

But there's a possibility that the pioneering may make the Colonel an impossibility.

The Butler Times expresses the hope that the day of the hogle man and scarecrow in politics will soon be over.

After November 8th next it will, for four years at least.

The Greensburg Record is convinced that if Congress persists in going to sleep at the switch every citizen will have to prepare his own prophecies.

Cheer up. The voters are preparing to place new switch tenders on the job.

The Uniontown Herald avers that high prices attract more attention nowadays than high finance.

And high prices are drawing more attention than either high prices or high finance.

The Waynesburg Democrat-Messenger, with a justifiable pride, records the fact that its editor has never missed casting his ballot at either primary or general election since 1870 except two instances when he was out of the country, and that he has voted the straight Democratic ticket every time.

This tribute to party loyalty, as the record bears eloquent witness, makes one interesting and we take it essential and important element. This could be supplied by answer to the question: What is a straight Democratic duty?

Young Men Becoming Republicans.

A noticeable sign of the times is the trend of young men away from the Democratic party and to the Republican party. The course of the Wilson Administration and the wretched bungling of the Democratic Congress, the lack of spirit and agreement in the Democratic camp, the thinking young men to seek other political alliances.

Democracy's Single Hope.

Uncertainty Spirit.

Two things the Democratic party will attempt to accomplish in the Bulletin No. 1

A Mistake in the Policy of the Bethlehem Steel Company

To the People:

The Senate of the United States has passed a bill to spend $11,000,000 of the People's money to build a government armor plant. The measure is now before the House of Representatives.

It is said that manufacturers of armor have "gouged" the country in the past, and that a government plant is necessary to secure armor more cheaply. The mistake of the Bethlehem Steel Company has been that it has kept quiet. We have allowed irresponsible assertions to be made for so long without denial, that many people now believe them to be proven facts. We shall make the mistake of silence no longer. Henceforth we shall pursue a policy of publicity. Misinformation will not be permitted to go uncorrected.

It is and has been the policy of our Company to deal with the American Government fairly and squarely.

We shall henceforth place the details of our relations with the Government before the American people.

The United States has for twenty years obtained the highest grade of armor and has paid a lower price for it than has any other great naval power.

Figures officially compiled for the Senate Committee on Naval Affairs from the Naval Year Book show that under conditions prevailing just before the European war, the chief naval powers of the world were paying these prices for armor:

England, $503 per ton; France, $460; Germany, $490; Japan, $490; UNITED STATES, $425.

A government plant cannot make armor any cheaper than we can do it; and—

We are prepared to manufacture armor at any price which the Government itself shall name as fair. THAT BEING SO, SHOULD $11,000,000 OF THE PEOPLE'S MONEY BE WASTED TO BUILD A GOVERNMENT PLANT?

CRAS, M. SCHWAB, Chairman
EUGENE G. GRACE, President

THE NEWEST REMEDY

FOR Backache, Rheumatism and Dropsy.

Kidney, Bladder and Uric Acid troubles bring misery to many. When the kidneys are weak or diseased, these natural filters do not cleanse the blood sufficiently, and the poisons are carried to all parts of the body. There follow depression, aches and pains, heaviness, drowsiness, irritability, headache, stiffness and rheumatism. In some people there are sharp pains in the back and joints, distressing bladder disorders and some develop dropsy. The uric acid "crystals" form into gravel or kidney stones. When the uric acid attacks the muscles and joints, it causes lumbago, rheumatism, gout or sciatica. This is the time to try a remedy.

During digestion uric acid is absorbed into the system from meat eaten, and ever from some vegetables. The poisons are not tired and backache begins. This is a good time to take "Anuric," the new discovery of Dr. Pierce for kidney trouble and dropsy. Neglected kidney trouble is responsible for many deaths, and Insurance Companies examining doctors always test the water of an applicant before a policy will be issued. Have you ever set aside a bottle of water for forty hours? A heavy sediment or something sometimes indicates kidney trouble. The true nature and character of diseases, especially those of the kidneys and urinary organs, can often be determined by a careful chemical analysis. Medical Staff of the Invalids' Hotel, if you wish to know your condition send a sample of your water to Doctor Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., and describe your symptoms. It will be examined at your expense and you and Doctor Pierce or his Staff of Consulting Physicians will inform you truthfully.

KNOW YOURSELF!

Read all about yourself, your system, physiology, anatomy, hygiene, home care, etc., in the "Common Sense Medical Adviser," a book of 2000 pages. Send to Dr. W. M. Fitch, Buffalo, N. Y., three dimes or thirty cents in one-cent stamps for a cloth-bound copy.

Circulating Libraries

Little Talks on Health and Hygiene by Samuel G. Dixon, M. D., LL. D., Commissioner of Health.

A word to the thoughtful mother about the danger of circulating libraries where the organization is such that it does not require books to be disinfected every time they are returned from circulation.

With all the care and energy of the health authorities, thousands of homes in this state are infected with tuberculosis and it will continue to be spread through circulating libraries unless the people demand the disinfection of the books to destroy the germs of disease that they otherwise may carry from home to home.

We often see a mother with her infant in her arms, that is being lulled to sleep while the mother is reading a book from a circulating library.

Tuberculosis is only one of several diseases that may be communicated by unclean books.

WEST PENN POWER COMPANY

7% CUMULATIVE PREFERRED STOCK

(Shares of $100 par value)

Preferred both as to assets and dividends

Redeemable as a whole or in part at 115 and accrued dividend upon six months' notice. Dividends payable quarterly, February 15, May 15, August 15 and November 15.

TAX EXEMPT IN PENNSYLVANIA

The West Penn Power Company was organized under the laws of Pennsylvania, March 1, 1916, for the purpose of consolidating under a single fee ownership the principal electric light and power properties owned by the West Penn Traction Company. The West Penn Power Company does a general electric lighting and power business, serving some seventy-five cities and towns in the territory surrounding Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

For detailed information regarding this stock, attention is directed to the accompanying letter of Samuel Insull, Esquire, President of the Company, from which we summarize the following:

The proceeds of this stock will be used for additions, improvements and extensions to the Company's property.

No additional preferred stock, except $1,000,000 par value, may be issued unless surplus earnings after payment of bond interest shall equal at least Three Times the annual dividend requirement on all preferred stock outstanding, including that proposed to be issued.

Franchise situation is entirely satisfactory.

On the basis of the appraisal of our examining engineers and the investment of cash realized from the present financing the value of the property is largely in excess of the outstanding bonds and preferred stock.

The physical property is in good condition and provision is made by mortgage covenant for adequate maintenance and renewal thereof.

Earning capacity of the property, as shown by certified statement of independent auditors, is far in excess of interest and dividend requirements. For the twelve months ended December 31, 1915, surplus earnings after payment of all fixed charges were equivalent to over five times dividend required on present issue of preferred stock.

Territory served comprises one of the very best power situations in the United States and offers exceptional opportunities for largely increasing the Company's business.

MEYERSDALE.

MEYERSDALE, May 31.—Memorial Day services were observed in a fitting manner. This morning at 9 o'clock Rev. J. J. Brady, pastor of St. Philip and James Catholic Church, and a goodly number of the congregation went to the Catholic cemetery, where prayers were offered. At 10 o'clock the G. A. R. went to the Catholic and Reformed cemeteries, decorated the graves and conducted a short service. The principal services were in the afternoon at the Union cemetery. The line of march formed at the G. A. R. post room, consisting of the old soldiers, Citizens Band, drum corps, Sunday School and public school children and many others. At the cemetery appropriate services were held by the G. A. R. Post, after which Seth Kinsey delivered an address.

LAWYERS THE MOST COMMON VIOLATORS OF HIGHWAY LAW

As Candidates They Invariably Ignore Law Against Advertising

CRUSADE BEING CARRIED ON

American Civic Association Seeks to Put an End to Misplacement of the Public Roads and Laws Concerning the Matter are Being Widely Spread.

There are doubtless many people who are unaware that the disfigurement by placing advertising devices on the telegraph and telephone poles, fences and other structures along the highways is a violation of the law. Candidates, some of whom are lawyers, are among the most flagrant offenders. Only less so are the advertising travelers who tack tin and pasteboard signs over buildings, fences, trees and every immovable object they can find along the highways. All of this form of advertising is in open violation of state laws.

An early in 1903 a law was enacted which provided that no person shall paste, paint, brand, or stamp or in any manner whatsoever place upon or attach to any building, fence, bridge, gate, outbuilding or property of another, whether within or without the limits of a highway, any written, printed, painted, or other advertisement, bill, notice, sign, card or poster, without first having obtained the written consent of the owner, or tenant lawfully in possession or occupancy thereof.

The same law also definitely prohibits the placing of signs of any character, save legal notices, upon any private property "without having first obtained the written consent of the owner or tenant lawfully in possession or occupancy thereof." This means that other tens of thousands of signs, candidates' announcements, and other devices, tacked on stables, blacksmith shops, fences, barns, outbuildings, and the like, are illegal, unless written consent of the owner or tenant has been obtained in advance. It is not enough to get consent after the sign is posted, and it is believed that a separate prosecution can be made for every offense so that, for instance, ten tobacco signs erected by one man in one day on private property without written consent obtained in advance would probably subject the offender, upon conviction, to a penalty of not less than fifty dollars nor more than two hundred dollars.

All signs and banners swung across the street are clearly illegal, and no mayor, burgess, council, or commissioners have any right to grant permission to erect such intrusions. All signs or bills on the fence erected on the sidewalk or street to protect the work of tearing down or erecting buildings, and all signs on contractors' sheds, etc., placed on the street or highway are illegal and "a public nuisance."

A citizen is entirely within his rights in courteously calling the attention of the proper official to infractions of the law. In action the mayor, and in boroughs the burgess, may properly be appealed to. In townships of the first class the commissioners are expected to enforce laws, but for townships of the second class appeal may need to be made to the county commissioners. Every road supervisor is legally bound to enforce laws relating to highways within his charge.

The American Civic Association of Washington City is making a country-wide campaign against advertising of this character. Local clubs are being organized in different sections to make the work of the association more effective.

Iron is Greatest of All Strength Builders, Says Doctor

A Secret of the Great Endurance and Power of Athlete

Ordinary Nuxated Iron Will Make Delicate, Nervous, Run-down People 200 Per Cent. Stronger in Two Weeks' Time in Many Cases.

NEW YORK, N. Y.—Most people foolishly seem to think they are going to get renewed health and strength from some stimulating medicine, secret nostrum or narcotic drug, said Dr. Sauer, a well known specialist who has studied widely both in this country and Europe, when, as a matter of fact, real and true strength can only come from the food you eat. But people often fail to get the strength out of their food because they haven't enough iron in their blood to enable it to change food into living matter. From their weakened, nervous condition they know something is wrong but they can't tell what, so they generally commence doctoring for stomach, liver or kidney trouble or symptoms of some other ailment caused by the lack of iron in the blood. This thing may go on for years, while the patient suffers untold agony. If you are not strong or well, you owe it to yourself to make the following test: See how long you can walk or how far you can walk without becoming tired. Next take two five-grain tablets of ordinary nuxated iron three times per day after meals for two weeks. Then test your strength again and see for yourself how much you have gained. I have seen dozens of nervous, run-down people who were ailing all the while, double their strength and endurance and entirely get rid of symptoms of dyspepsia, liver and other troubles in from ten to fourteen days' time simply by taking iron in the proper form. And this after they had in some cases been doctoring for months without obtaining any benefit. But don't take the old forms of reduced iron, iron acetate or tincture of iron simply to save a few cents. You must take iron in a form that can be easily absorbed and assimilated like nuxated iron if you want it to do you any good, otherwise it may prove worse than useless. Many an athlete or prize-fighter has won the day simply because he knew the secret of great strength and endurance and filled his blood with iron before he went into the fray while many another has gone down to inglorious defeat simply for the lack of iron.

NOTE—Nuxated Iron recommended above by Dr. Sauer is not a patent medicine nor secret remedy, but one which is well known to druggists and whose iron constituents is widely prescribed by eminent physicians everywhere. Unlike the older iron salts iron products it is easily assimilated, does not injure the teeth, make them black, nor upset the stomach, on the contrary, it is a most potent remedy, in nearly all forms of indigestion, as well as for nervous, run-down conditions. The manufacturers have such great confidence in Nuxated Iron that they offer to forfeit $100.00 to any charitable institution if they cannot take any man or woman under 60 who lacks iron, and increase their strength 200 per cent or over in four weeks time provided they have no serious organic trouble. They also offer to refund your money if it does not at least double your strength and endurance in ten days' time. It is dispensed in this city by A. A. Clarke and all other druggists—Adv.

REORGANIZERS ARE MUCH CHASTENED FOLLOWING VOTE

Palmer Democrats Not So Cheery as Heretofore Guffy Has a Contest.

HARRISBURG, May 31.—A boom for Democratic state chairman, on the eve of the state convention, brought here last night by William L. McClain of Wilkes-Barre, one of the most energetic Democratic leaders in the anthracite field, clouded chances of Joseph P. Guffy of Pittsburgh being chosen to succeed Roland S. Morris of Philadelphia.

Until McClain entered the field the names of Guffy, Senator W. Wayne Hiram, Chairman, Assistant Postmaster-General James I. Blakeslee, Carbon, and Bruce P. Sterling, Fayette, were being talked of. Mr. Blakeslee seemed to think that he had enough on hand at Washington without taking on anything like the state chairmanship.

The secretary of the commonwealth had certified all returns for state committee and delegates except those from Butler and Delaware counties so that there were no questions about seats and except for the sorrows occasioned by the defeat of State Chairman Roland S. Morris and several other re-organizers for delegates-at-large and the sudden appearance of the McClain boom things were more nearly serene than has been known the night before a Democratic state committee meeting in two years.

Leaders of the Palmer faction which is the only one yet here in force, seemed to have been chastened by the primary and talked in low tones about Democratic uncertainties.

Facts Versus Fallacies

FACT is a real state of things. FALLACY is an apparently genuine but really illogical statement or argument.

SINCE the time that Prohibition FALLACY was first advocated in this country, and the State of Maine made the first experiment, in 1851, there have been some 30 States that have tried Prohibition laws. Fourteen of these States awakened to the folly of Prohibition and repealed their "dry" statutes, and six of these States repudiated such impractical laws after making two trials. Today there are some 19 States suffering Prohibition law, although one-half of these States were misled into the FALLACY within the past six years of emotional agitation.

WHEN it is considered that, in spite of those States that are presumed to be denied the privilege of using alcoholic beverages, there was meantime, an increase in consumption of liquor from a little more than 4 gallons per capita in 1850 to some 22 gallons per person in 1914, the failure of Prohibition to accomplish its purpose appears glaring. Take Georgia, for instance, as a sample Prohibition State to demonstrate why there has been "dry" mockery:

FACT

Increase in LIQUOR Consumption from 4 Gallons in 1850 to 22 Gallons in 1914 Per Person

THE per capita consumption of beer is about 28 gallons annually in the entire United States, but the thirsty citizen of Prohibition Georgia is permitted to have 72 gallons of beer shipped to him every year! The reports of the U. S. Internal Revenue Bureau show that the average per capita consumption of ardent spirits in the whole United States, including whiskey, rum and gin, is less than 1½ gallons per annum, as compared with 6 gallons allowed to be shipped to a resident of Georgia—and this, mind you, under that State's Prohibition law. The quantity of wine consumed throughout the entire country is less than two-thirds of a gallon per capita—but a Georgian may have 19 times that amount shipped to him!

IN other words, a Prohibition State, like Georgia, forbids its citizens under regulation and license to sell liquors to its own residents; but citizens in adjoining "wet" States may profit from the sale of alcoholics to the people who live in Prohibition territory.

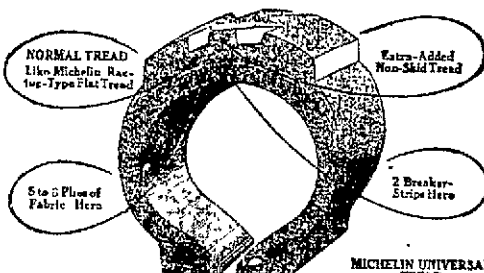

THE FALLACY of Prohibition was never better shown than by the FACT that the citizen of Prohibition Georgia is permitted, by law, to purchase many more gallons of alcoholic beverages annually than is consumed by the average citizen in "wet" territory. How does Prohibition prohibit?

CHAPTER I The Heptadern

It was not characteristic of Brouillard—the Brouillard, Grelow knew best—that he should suffer the purely technical talk of dams and reservoirs, bed rock anchorages and the latest word in concrete structural processes to languish and should drift into personal reminiscences over their first evening campfire in the Niangua.

"As you were saying?" Grelow prompted, stretching himself luxuriously upon the fragrant bunking of freshly clipped spruce tips, with his feet to the blaze and his hands locked under his head. He felt that Brouillard was merely responding to the subtle influences of time, place and companionship and took no shame for being an analytical rather than a sympathetic listener. The hundred odd men of the pioneer party, relaxing after the daylong march over the mountains were smoking, yarning, or playing cards around the dozen or more campfires. The evening, with a half-grown moon silencing the inverted bowl of a firmament which seemed to shut down, lidlike, upon the mountain rim of the high-walled valley was wistfully enchanting.

"I was saying that the present-day world is in a state of complete chaos," Brouillard went on at the end of the thoughtful pause. "Just the same, every man has his little private streak if you can hit upon it. For example, away back in the porringer period, in which we are all like the pin feathered dickcissels open mouthed for anything anybody may drop into us someone fed me with the number seven."

"Excellent morsel!" chuckled Grelow. "Did it agree with you?"

Brouillard sat back from the fire and clasped his hands over his bent knees. He was of a type rare enough to be noteworthy—a well-knit figure of a man rather than the normal stature, but bulging abnormally in the loose-fitting khaki of the engineer's dark of skin, and owing a face which might have served as a model for a Verger study of a fighting franc-tireur. "I don't remember how early in the game the thing began," he resumed, ignoring Grelow's joking interruption. "But away back in the dimmest dawnings the number seven began to have a curious significance for me. I think the pin feather time somebody handed me a fact about the waste and replace that goes on in the human organism bringing about a complete cellular change about once in every seven years. Are you asleep?"

"Not yet, go on," said the hydrographer. "I'm to my seventh birthday I was a sickly child, puny and only about half alive. It came—the change I mean—when I was seven years old. That was the year of our removal to Vincennes from the country village where I was born. Since that time I haven't known what it means to be sick or even ailing."

"Bully old change!" applauded Grelow. "Is that all?"

"No. What the second period opened on my body it took out of my mind. I grew stouter and stronger every year and became more and more the sturdiest blockhead that ever thumbed a schoolbook. I was fourteen to a day when I squeezed through the final grammar grade, think of it—fourteen years old and still with the women teachers! I found out afterward that I got my dubiously given passport to the high school chiefly because my father was one of the best-known and best-loved men in the old home town. Perhaps it wasn't the magic seven that built me all over new that summer, perhaps it was only the change in schools and teachers. But from that year on all the hard things were too easy. It was as if somebody or something had suddenly opened a closed door in my brain and let the daylight into all the dark corners at once."

Grelow sat up and gazed at him. "Yes and since that time you have staved your way through the university, and butted into the reclamation service and played skittles with every other man's chances of promotion until you have come out at the top of the heap in the construction division, all of which you're much too modest to brag about. But say, we've skipped one of the seven year flag stations. What happened when you were twenty-one—or were you too busy just then chasing the elusive engineering degree to take notice?"

Brouillard was staring out over the loom of the dozen campfires—out and across the valley at the massive bulk of Mount Chigirigo rising like a huge barrier dark to the skylike save for a single pinprick of yellow light fixing the position of a solitary miner's cabin half way between the valley level and the summit. When he spoke again the hydrographer had been given time to shove another pipe charge of tobacco from his pocket plug and to fill and light the pipe.

"When I was twenty-one my father died, and—he stopped short and then went on in a tone which was more than half apologetic—"I don't mind telling Grelow, you're not the kind to pass it on where it would hurt. At twenty-one I was left with a back load that I am carrying to this good day, that I will probably go on carrying through life."

Grelow walked around the fire, kicked two or three of the charred log ends into the blaze, and growled when the resulting smoke rose up to choke and blind him.

"Forget it, Victor," he said. "In less than a hundredth part of that time you'll be at the top of the reclamation service pay roll—won't that help out?"

"No, not appreciably."

Grelow gave it up at that and went back to the original contention.

"We're dodging the main issue here," said Brouillard. "What is the active principle of your seven—or haven't you figured it out?"

"Change," was the prompt rejoinder. "Always something different—radically different."

"But what started you off into the memory weeds particularly tonight?"

"Coincidences. It began with that hopelessly unreliable little clock that it? The clock struck seven, you say, but it also struck four."

Brouillard's smile tilted his curling mustaches to the sidereal angle.

"The combination was what called the turn, Grelow. Today happens to be my twenty-eighth birthday—the end of the fourth cycle of seven."

"By George!" ejaculated the hydrographer in mock perturbation sitting up so suddenly that he dropped his pipe into the ashes of the fire. "In that case, according to what seems to be the well established custom something is due to fall in right now!"

I have been looking for it all day," returned Brouillard calmly. "It was Murray Grelow who finally rang the curtain call on the prolonged talk."

"Say, man! do you know that it is after ten o'clock?" he demanded holding the face of his watch down to the glow of the dying embers. "You may sit here all night, if you like, but it is time for the blankets. Now what in the name of a guilty conscience is that?"

As it changed they were both facing toward the lower end of the valley when the apparition flashed into view. In the deepest of the shadows at the mouth of the gorge where the towering Niangua straightened itself momentarily before entering upon its plunging race through the mountain barrier a beam of white light flickered unsteadily for a fraction of a second. Then it became a luminous pencil to trace a zigzag line up the winding course of the river, across to the foot hill spur where the camp of the reclamation service was pitched, and so on around to the base of the Chigirigo. For certain other seconds it remained quiescent, glowing balefully like the eye of some fabled monster searching for its prey. Then it was gone.

Grelow's comment took the form of a half-startled exclamation.

"By Jove! wouldn't that give you a bit of the cryptic—this far from civilization and a dynamo? What are you calling it?"

Your guess is as good as mine," Brouillard had got upon his feet and was buttoning his many-pocketed shooting coat. "I'm going to take a little hike down yonder for investigation purposes. Want to come along?"

But the mapper of watersheds was yawning sleepily. "Not on your tin

"Chief Engineer, eh? That's Fine, Fine!"

One fine! My name is Cortwright—J. Wesley Cortwright of Chicago. And yours is—?

Brouillard named himself in one word. Strangers usually found him shortly unresponsive to anything like "Pleasure?" but he was finding it curiously difficult to resist the good-natured heartiness which seemed to exude from the talkative gentleman, overlying him like the honeydew on the leaves in a droughty forest.

If Mr. J. Wesley Cortwright's surprise on hearing the Brouillard's surname was not genuine it was at least an excellent imitation.

"Well, well, well—you don't say! Not of the Brouillards of Knox county, Indiana?—but, of course, you must be." "Yes," said Brouillard. "Our branch of the family settled near Vincennes, and my father was on the bench, when he wasn't in politics."

"What? Not Judge Antoine? Why, my dear young man? Do you know that I once had the pleasure of introducing your good father to my bankers in Chicago? It was years ago, at a time when he was interested in floating a bond issue for some growing industry down on the Wabash. And to think that away out here in this howling wilderness, a thousand miles from nowhere, as you might say, I should meet his son!"

Brouillard laughed and fell headlong into the pit of bitterness.

CRAGO DELIVERS PATRIOTIC TALK TO CLUB WOMEN

Waynesburg, Congressman Spoke Before National Federation in New York.

HE LAUDS FEMININE HEROISM

Soldier Who Fights the Battle Not the Only Patriot, He Declares; Takes Real Preparedness Points to Economic Changes of Late Years.

Special to The Courier.
NEW YORK, May 31.—Representative Crago, of Pennsylvania, addressed an immense gathering here last night in the Seventh Regiment Armory when he spoke before the General Federation of Women's Clubs now holding their convention in this city. It was Memorial Day, and as suited the occasion, the address of Mr. Crago was of a patriotic nature.

Taking lessons from the past history of this country, he showed what lack of preparedness had cost the American people; and he pointed to the future, declaring that while "we are a peace loving people, resting secure today in our dreams of peace, tonight or tomorrow some incident may so inflame our people as to cause us as a nation to draw the sword, not the sword of conquest but in defense of our homes or our national honor." He attacked the "misguided and misinformed pacifists who would leave the country in fancied security."

"I am not one of those," said Mr. Crago, "who believe that the soldier who fights the battles of his country is the only patriot. Back of the soldier in every crisis of our history have been the forces which made possible his victories. The school and the teacher, the business man, the statesman, the church, and above all and beyond all the Anglo-Saxon home, have guided us as a nation and made our victories on land and sea triumphs of progress to which we point with pride."

"Today in our country the efficiency, the very life of democracy is on trial. We are at peace but while peace hinders her victories no less renowned than war, a servile begging peace, clothed with material wealth and love of ease, is more degrading, more destructive than any war can be when fought for human rights. In this battle of peace I am not much concerned for our wealth as a nation or as individuals, nor for our extension of trade or our prestige among nations; but I am deeply concerned for the heart, the soul, the spirit of America, that these may survive the dangers of such a peace as seems to have snuffed and blinded us to our greatest perils."

"We once were a people who owned our homes and tilled our own soil. Has the growth of our great centers of population, and the so-called homes in apartment houses and hotels strengthened us? We welcome the change from the slow beat of burden to the gasoline gait, but does it help to solve our economic problems? We have made wonderful strides in our financial world, but has the sordid gain by reason of the misfortune of others made us more respected by the other nations of the world? Are we true patriots or shall history record us as legalized pirates, ready to sell principles for which our fathers died, in order that we may enjoy the ease of living which comes from sudden material wealth?"

"Don't misunderstand me I am not questioning the benefits and blessings of our modern living conditions; I would not have us return to the old, but I am asking you as representative Americans, can we infuse into this new life the willingness to give service, the hardihood which endures, the spirit and determination which win victories, which has characterized our national life of the past. Only that patriotism is worth while which expresses itself in service."

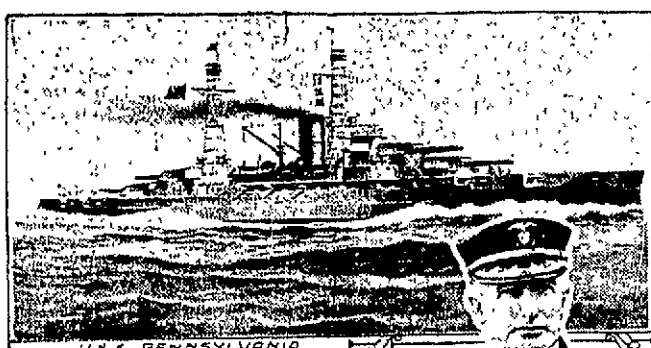

"I am assuming that all of us love peace and detest war, but I am also assuming that I am talking to patriotic Americans, descendants of those who have paid the price for our free institutions, who are willing to treat our national honor to the whim of any foreign power, but are willing to use the most efficient methods to defend our country against attack from within or from without."

Arguing for a "rational preparedness for peace," Mr. Crago went on to say that "if we have a knowledge of the history of nations, as example can be given of a nation which has maintained itself without a force of arms sufficient to defend it from unjust demands, then some thought might be given the arguments of those misguided and misinformed persons who protest against our nation placing itself in a position to defend our rights and enforce the just demands we may be called upon to make of other nations." Without the ability to protect its citizens, he said a government has no right to be called a government. The demagogue loudly proclaims, said Mr. Crago, that in the event of war millions of men will volunteer to meet every emergency but ignores the fact that modern war is not a battle with fists and that it takes equipment and training to make an army. He declared that the misguided pacifists "fail to realize that all our progress and culture, our wealth and our happiness depend on a stable government, by force of arms, if needs be, to maintain itself and defend its citizens against any power on earth."

Pennsylvania, Biggest Warship, Almost Ready to Join Navy

U.S.S. PENNSYLVANIA

The superdreadnought Pennsylvania, biggest of the world's war vessels, is to be turned over to the government within a few days, the exact date to be fixed by the Navy Department. It was announced by shipyard officials at Newport News, Va. During her spend trials recently the Pennsylvania exceeded all requirements. She will become the flagship of the Atlantic fleet when commissioned. She has cost the government about $13,000,000. Her displacement is 31,000 tons and her speed slightly over twenty-one knots. The length on the water line is 600 feet, length over all 608 feet. Her armament consists of a main battery of twelve fourteen-inch 45 caliber breechloading rapid fire guns, four torpedo tubes, with many small guns. Captain Henry B. Wilson has been assigned to the command of the Pennsylvania.

CAPTAIN WILSON

ATTITUDE OF HUGHES IS THE BIG SUBJECT

Root Camp Hides Claim of Frank
E. Hitchcock for the Justice;

Special to The Courier.

CHICAGO, May 31.—Theodore Roosevelt, whose admirers are driving with all their might to have him nominated for President in the Republican convention in the Coliseum next week, has told friends he cannot approve of the Justice Charles E. Hughes candidacy under present circumstances. The Colonel is quoted to this effect and it was practically verified by questions asked by Oscar King Davis, secretary of the Progressive party committee. As a result of the visit of Colonel Roosevelt and these developments the Hughes stock took a slump.

In Candidate Row in South Michigan avenue the general talk was of the Hughes attitude. Claims of Frank H. Hitchcock to something like 435 votes for Hughes were ridiculed. From the Ellin Root tent came more bear news on the Hughes propaganda. They said Mr. Hitchcock likely would hear from his talk, in which he "delivered" a majority of the New York delegation to the justice. The Root men have maintained from the start that they will have a majority of the New Yorkers for the former senator. Chairman Charles D. Hill of the Republican national committee gave out an official list of the contests filed that will be taken up by the national committee when it meets Thursday. The contests total 40, involving 92 seats in the convention. This is the lowest number on recent conventions.

SHOPS WIN TWO.

Take Both Games of a Double-Header
From Baltimore.

Rain stopped two games in the Baltimore & Ohio League to have been played at Reckwood and Somerset yesterday. The game played between the Shops team and the Baltimore team in the morning lasted only five innings but Connelville won in that time by a score of 6-2. Rain stopped the remainder of the game.

The second game played in the afternoon was also won by the Connelville team, 11-8. The Baltimore team is not a member of the Connelville division league and the winning of the game by the Shops did not affect the standing of the league.
